

Famous Soprano Coming

Josephine Martino, Who Sings at Chautauqua on Last Night, is Protege of Caruso

Josephine Martino has attracted the attention of Enrico Caruso, the great metropolitan tenor, by her marvelous voice. In January, 1919, she sang before Caruso, Gatti-Casazza and Alex Lambert, probably the three best-known figures in New York musical circles. All predicted a great career for Miss Martino. Caruso has coached her in several of the operatic numbers she will use during the coming tour. Last season she was tendered a place with the Metropolitan Operatic forces.

President Wilson, after hearing Miss Martino, recently, complimented her personally. She sang for the Edison company last fall and will be one of their regularly advertised "Recreation Artists," next season.

No Great Handicap

"The author of this motor romance never owned a car."
"That doesn't mean anything in particular."
"No?"
"Jules Verne wrote a corking good story about the moon, but he'd never been there."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Thoroughly Selfish

"Do you know what I'd like?" asked the first road hog.
"No. What would you like?" said the second porcine person.
"I'd like to have a motor car so big there wouldn't be room on the broadest boulevard for anything to pass me but a breeze."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HERE IN INTERESTS OF CHILDREN'S HOME

W. L. Summers, state superintendent of the Arizona Children's Home was a Kingman visitor this week in the interests of his institution at Tucson. In speaking of the work of the home, Mr. Summers said:

"The Arizona Children's Home Association was admitted to the National association in 1917. Since that time it has cared for more than 300 children, caring for 141 last year. The association is incorporated under the laws of Arizona and subject to the corporation commission. This Association cares for the dependent children of Arizona in any part of the state and regardless of creed.

"We have at this time several real live, red-blooded boys between the ages of six and twelve that we would like to place in good homes. Anyone desiring one or more of these please communicate with the Superintendent W. L. Summers, Tucson, Ariz. We are in a campaign for the building that will enable us more adequately to care for the needy little ones of our state. We have the site of ten acres which will furnish room for recreation grounds, gardens, etc. Every body get in and boost for Arizona's own institution."

THE OLDEST WORK OF FICTION

The oldest work of fiction extant is thought to be "The Tale of Two Brothers," written 3200 years ago by the Theban scribe Enana, librarian of the palace of King Menephtah, the supposed Pharaoh of the Exodus. The tale, it appears, was written for the entertainment of the crown prince, who subsequently reigned as Set II. His name appears in two places in the manuscript, probably the only surviving autograph signature of an Egyptian king. This piece of antique papyrus in a bold hieratic hand, was purchased in Italy by Mme. D'Orbigny, who sold it in 1857 to the authorities of the British museum, where it is now known as the D'Orbigny papyrus.—Argonaut, (San Francisco).
